THE BONAPARTES. Our readers have noticed that the stirring events in Europe are bringing to the surface and into notoriety, various members of the Bonaparte family. In the account lately received, it has been mentioned that Jerome Bonaparte is to remain in France with the Empress Eugenie and her young son of three years, now heir to the throne. Mention, also, is often made of Prince Napoleon, who is to be put in command of one of the divisions of the French Italian army, and of Captain Bonaparte, of the United States. It is interesting to know who all these Bonapartes are, and how connected with the Great Napoleon. His family of brothers and sisters consisted of eight, born relatively as follows: Joseph, Napoleon, Lucien, Louis, Eliza, Pauline, Caroline, and Jerome. Of these, only one survives, to wit: Jerome, who was the youngest brother.

Napoleon III., or Charles Louis Napoleon, present Emperor of France, was a son of Louis, fourth brother of Napoleon I., and Hortense Beauharnais. Hortense was the daughter of Josephine, the beautiful widow whom Napoleon I. wooed and won, andfailing of off-spring-brutally discarded.— Thus the grandson of the discarded Josephine, occupies the throne Napoleon I, hoped to give to his own heir that he should have by marrying Maria Louisa, of Austria .-Napoleon and Maria did have male issue, but Napoleon II., known as Duke of Reichstadt, died in 1832, at the age of 21 years, and during the reign of Louis Phillipe.

Those who suppose that Napoleon III. is a mere interloper in France, having no title to that throne, will perhaps be surprised to know that by the edicts passed in 1841, the usual order of descent was set aside, and the succession fixed in the line of Louis, the fourth brother of Napoleon 1., instead of in that of the elder brother, Joseph. This, of course, was upon the failure of direct succession. Hence the present Emperor has, at least, color of title. Although Louis and Napoleon I. came to be enemies, Hortense was a great favorite with Napoleon I., and she even parted with Louis and left him when King of Holland, and coming to Paris with her children, joined her fortunes to those of Napoleen I. Hortense was a woman of doubtful character, to say the least. She, in compliance with the wish of Napoleon I., gave up a lover when she married Louis, and when the Emperor even discarded her mother, Jos hine, Hortense still adhered to Napoleon. Hortense had lovers after her separation from Louis, among them, Admiral Vernol, a Dutch naval officer to whom is attributed, by many, the paternity of Napoleon, III., the present Emperor. JEROME BONAPARTE.

Jerome, the only surviving brother of Na poleon 1, was born in 1784. Coming to America, he fell in love with the famous Miss Patterson, of Baltimore, and married her .-He took his bride to France, but Napoleon I forbade her landing, and issued orders against her landing at any port under French rule. Beside this, Napoleon I compelled Jerome to discard his wife, and had a decree passed annulling said marriage. The Pope, however refused to confirm such a decree, and his successors never have confirmed it. Jerome, by dictation of Napoleon I, was again married to the daughter of the King of Wurtemburg. The first wife of Jerome - Miss Patterson had a son, Jerome, born in 1804, who now in Baltimore, but between her and her son there is an estrangement, which has existed for years, so that they do not even speak to Paris, and is the one referred to by Naponoted rather for extravagance than anything else, but was called to France by the present Emperor, was made a Marshal, also the President of the Senate, and is declared to be successor to the Throne in case of failure of PRINCE NAPOLEON.

Prince de Montfort-or Prince Napoleon was a son of Jerome by his marriage with the daughter of the King of Wartemburg.— He was born in 1822, and named Napoleon Joseph Charles Paul. He is the one spoken of in the accounts as Prince Napoleon, and who is to have command of a division of the French-Italian army. CAPTAIN BONAPAREE.

This is one of the Baltimore branch of the family, and is son of Jerome Bonaparte, of Baltimore, and grandson of Jerome the elder. He was born in 1832, and named Jerome Napoleon. He was educated at West Point, was for a short time in our army, but went to the Crimea as a subLieutenant in the French service, and was at the seige of Sebastopol. He is now in the French army as a INDEN WHISKEY.—This WHISKEY is unade in the old fashioned copper still, by double distillation, just beyond the summit of the Blue Ridge, in Warren county, Va., near the line of Fauquier, where the softness and purity of the mountain spring water, and the quality of the rye, constitute important elements in making the Whiskey for which this locality has been long celebrated. It is restortly pure, beyond all doubt, being made exis perfectly pure, beyond all doubt, being made ex-clusively of rye, hops, and barley malt, with the utmost care. The quantity made is limited, and bought principally for private use, by gentlemen connoissicurs in the surrounding counties, who are critically nice in laying by a stock for improvement. A small consignment has lately been made to MARSHALL & WARD, of Alexandria; or it can be procured direct, through correspondence with DR. FISHER, of Linden, Warren County, Va.

NoTICE.—The undersigned has taken out letters of administration on the estate of Sam-uel J. McCormick, dec'd. All persons having claims against the estate are requested to present them, duly authenticated, to Thos. M. SOMBRERO GUANO. In calling the attention of the public to this val-uable and recently discovered deposit of this fertilizing article, we will merely state, that like all other phosphatic GUANOS, its most valuable constituent is phosphoric acid, or bone phosphate of lime; and that its mercantile value, as compared with other GUANOS of its kind, may be easily determined by the amount of phosphoric acid or bone phosphate of lime it contains. In order, there-fore, to give the public a thorough knowledge of what SOMBRERO GUANO does contain, we beg to refer to the following list of eminent chemists in different parts of the world, who have analyzed difterent cargoes, from average samples taken by themselves from the cargoes just as they strive can be bought here or Baltimore.
